

IBD Research in the COVID-19 World

Dr. Gil Kaplan, MD, FRCPC, MPH

Professor of Medicine

University of Calgary

Dr. Nicola Jones, MD, FRCPC, PhD

Professor of Paediatrics

University of Toronto

Senior Scientist, Cell Biology Program, SickKids

IBD Research in the COVID-19 World

Objective 1

- ▶ What are the current clinical research initiatives on COVID and IBD?
- ▶ What are the gaps and future clinical research needs on COVID and IBD?

Objective 2

- ▶ What are the current basic & translational research initiatives on COVID and IBD?
- ▶ What are the gaps and future basic & translational research needs on COVID and IBD?

March 19, 2020

Crohn's and Colitis Canada's COVID-IBD Task Force launches recommendations and a weekly webinar series to keep patients and their families informed.

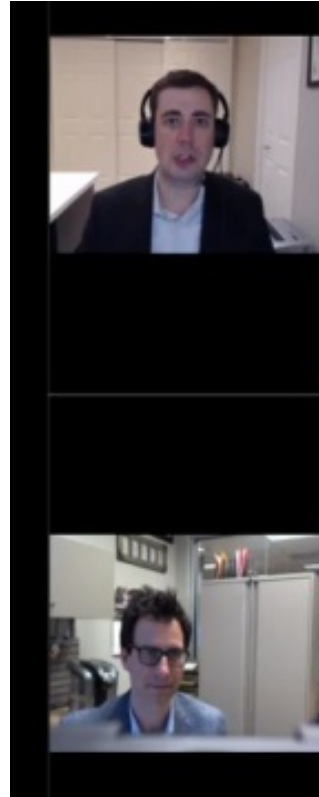

CCC COVID-IBD Task Force Recommendations:

<https://crohnsandcolitis.ca/About-Crohn-s-Colitis/COVID-19-and-IBD>

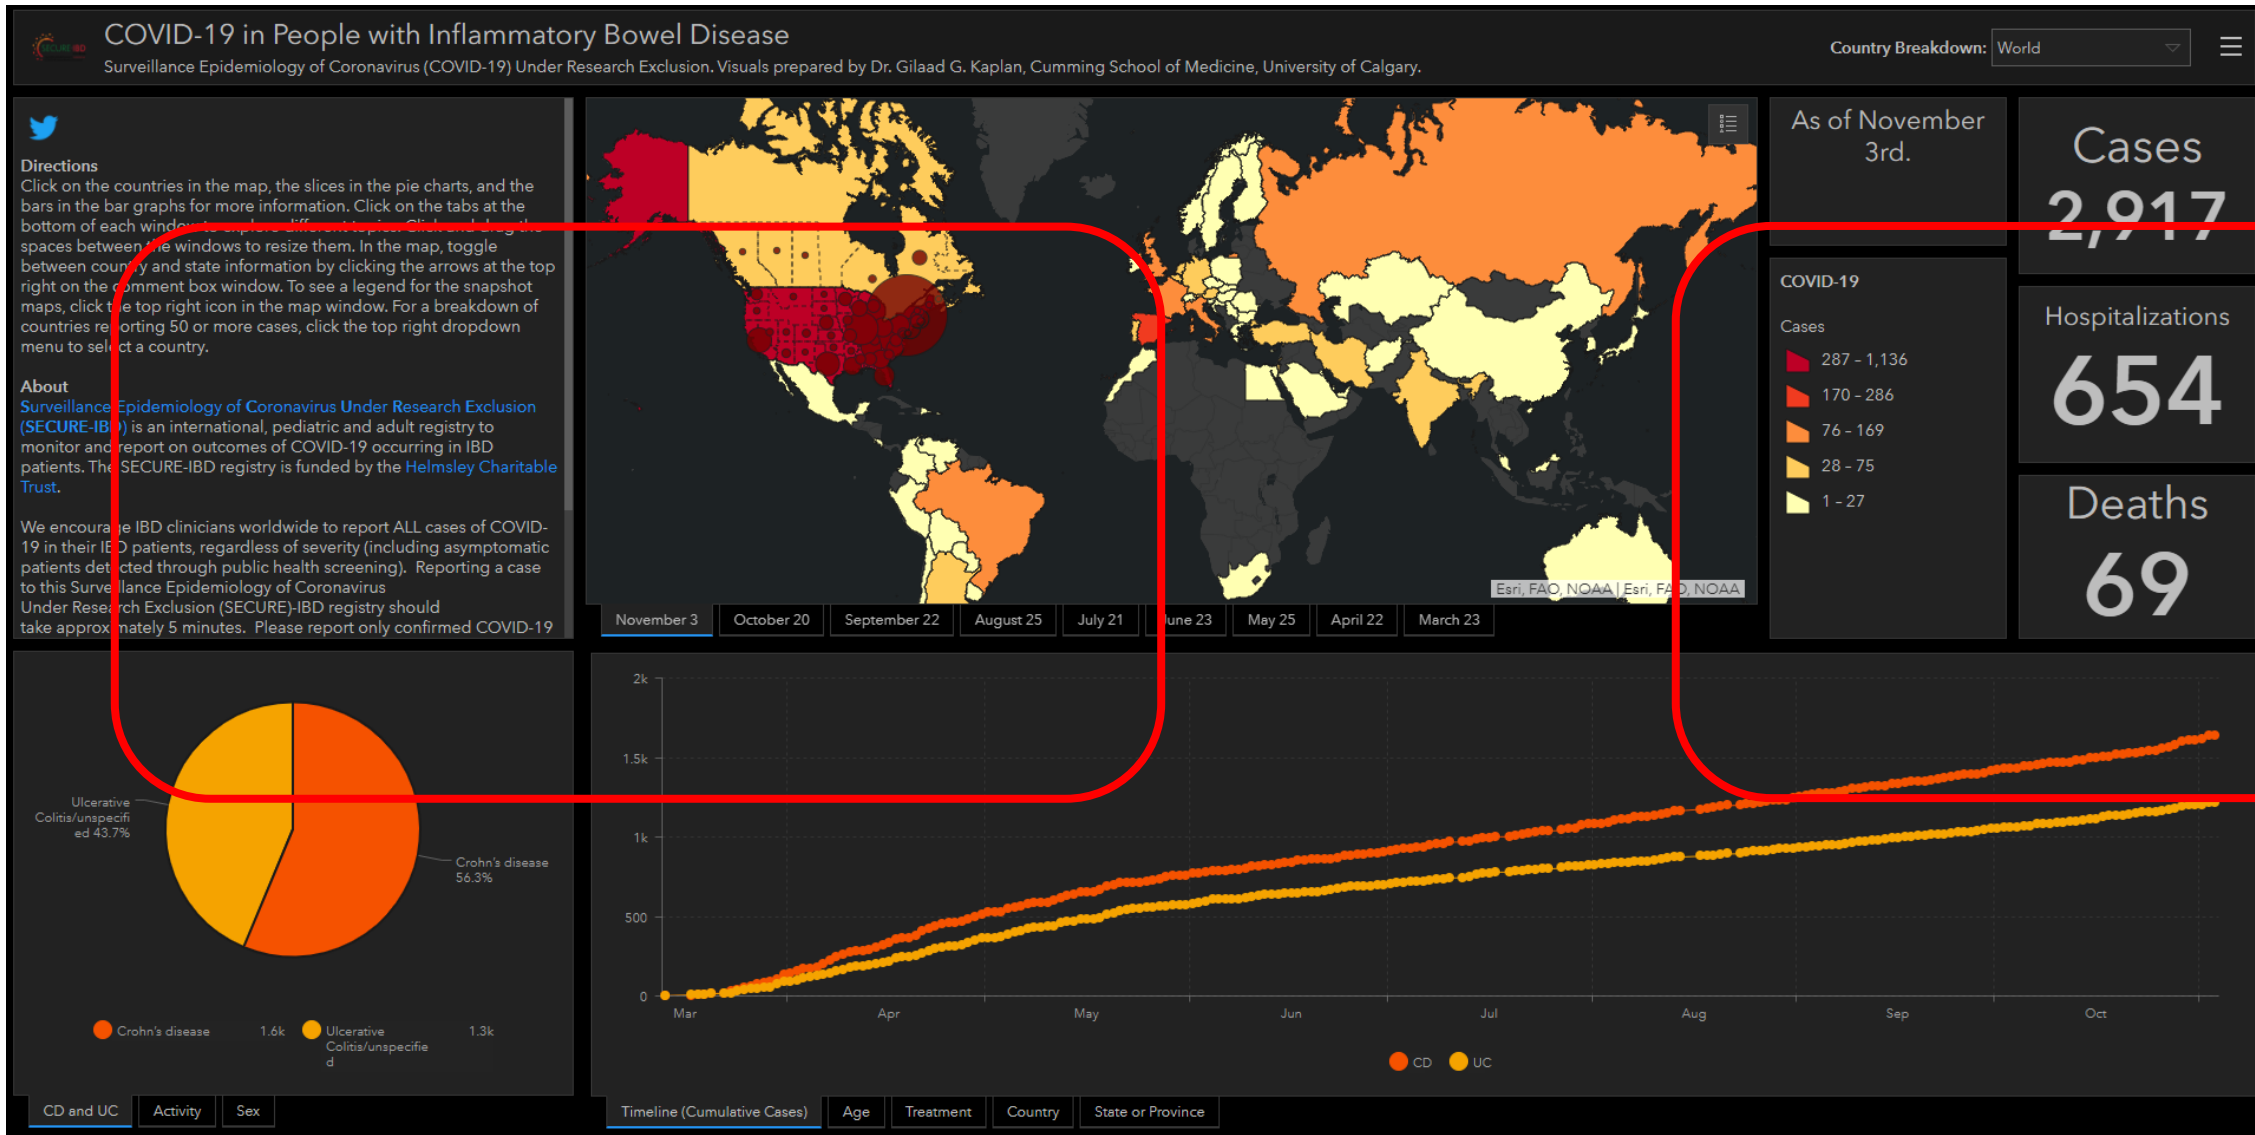

Weekly Webinars on YouTube:

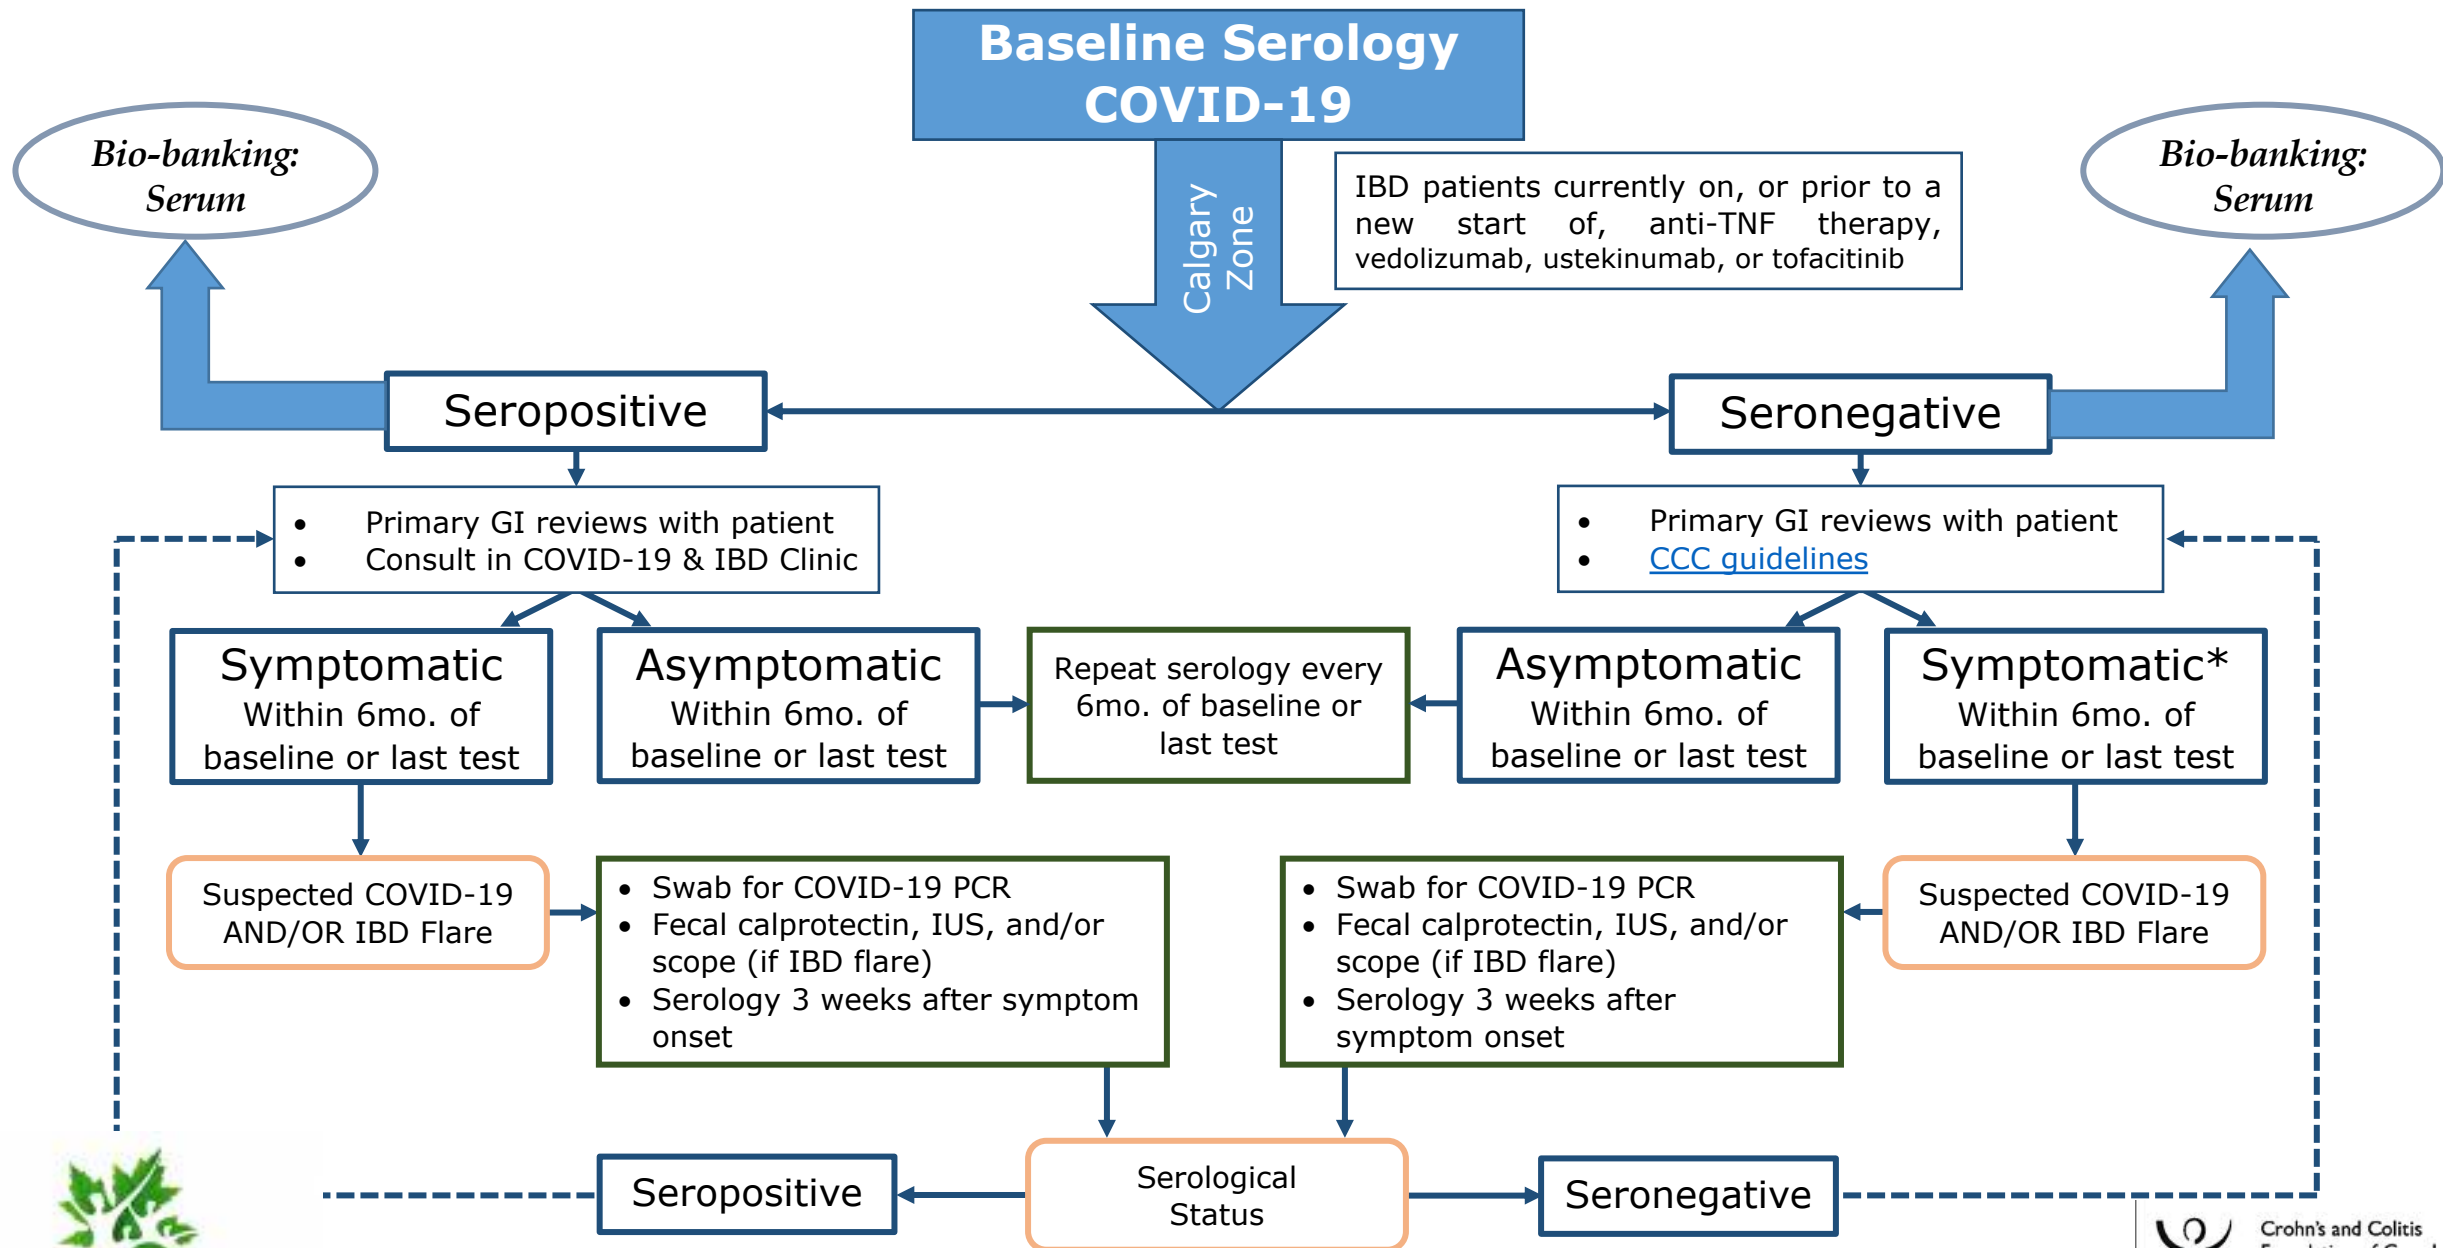

<https://crohnsandcolitis.ca/About-Crohn-s-Colitis/COVID-19-and-IBD>

SECURE-IBD: Surveillance Epidemiology of Coronavirus Under Research Exclusion. <https://arcg.is/0H4G1K>

Brenner, Ungaro, Gearry, Kaplan et al. Gastroenterology & Gut. 2020.

Funded by CIHR Op Grant: COVID-19 Rapid Research & Crohn's and Colitis Canada